

To whom it may concern:

I am writing with regard to Low Power FM (LPFM) replacing some of the current stations that I listen to on the radio. I would not want to see the national or regional stations such as K-Love radio replaced by others. This is a great service to us here in the Chicagoland area. It provides a positive, family-friendly alternative to so many of the foul-mouthed DJ's speaking on the air. I want my 14-month son to grow listening to radio that will help grow into a strong, positive, good young man. We don't have a lot of much contemporary Christian music in this area that today's young person would enjoy and want to listen to. This station serves many of the families that I come in contact with on a daily basis too.

Thank you for consideration
